— NSW AXEMEN ON TOUR —

CHRISTCHURCH, NEW ZEALAND

After three long years the NSW team returned to New Zealand's South Island. This year the team went with passion and a determination to walk away with the series win – and they did not disappoint. With their eyes firmly on the prize, it was a clean sweep for NSW, winning all three races in the Stihl Teams Relay series.

This year a new discipline was added in the teams race – the Jack and Jill Sawing, which saw the selection of NSW Axewoman, Madeleine Kirwan-Edwards to the team.

Our team raced well, with Mitch Scrivener leading out strong on the chainsaw, passing over to Blake Marsh who took no mercy cutting the first underhand. Phil Waters followed on with the first standing block and continued to strengthen NSW's lead. Clayton Read made light work of the Single Saw, which was followed by Jack and Jill sawyers Noel Marsh and Madeleine Kirwan-Edwards who had some of the best cuts of their partnership.

Michael Shadlow showed grit and determination in the underhand to set up Chris Owen who brought the team home in style. Thank you to Dan Shipman who wedged.

Team Manager Noel Marsh was proud of the team for not only their effort, but also in their individual events.

Congratulations must go to Noel and Blake Marsh for winning Christchurch Show's Double Handed Sawing Championship – something they have been striving to do for many years.

NSW look forward to sending a team again in 2024.
